EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The Evansville Courier says the dry bill the Indiana House passed today, Jan. 25.

Evacuation of Mexico by Gen. Ing's troops is under way and will be out in a week.

Two interurban cars collided near Cleveland, O., Saturday evening and persons were killed and 18 injured.

Congress approaches the end of the year with the Senate so far behind night sessions are necessary to finish the legislative program.

The Bingham-Cox-Scholtz slate in Harrison county seems to harmonize actions, as the slate is approved both the Courier-Journal and Washington dispatch says the Kaiser in Europe has turned the hair of many American women gray, because it is no longer possible to get German dyes.

Miss Amy Longest, county superintendent of schools in Muhlenberg county, wants to succeed herself. She no doubt has an ambition to make her term of office just like her name.

Watson Bros. of Columbia, Tenn., have just sold 50 jacks to the British government for $17,500. They have sold 70 others since the war began, making 120.

Col. Wm. J. Bryan will address the Tennessee Legislature at noon today and will be the honored guest at banquet to-night, at the Maxwell house.

The bill prohibiting the sale of liquor in the District of Columbia, which was passed the Senate by 23 majority, is said to be practically sure to pass the House.

The proposition made by a committee of diet experts to President Wilson to live on 25 cents a day and offered by him to Mrs. Wilson, has not since been heard from.

Mrs. Ethel Byrne, the "birth control" advocate who went on a hunger strike in a New York prison, was fed forcibly after she had become weakened by five days of fasting.

The Democrats will take the wind of Senator Borah's resolution regarding the Monroe doctrine by voting to make it unanimous. The "Isolation Doctrine" is not held to be insistent.

The date for the 27th annual reunion of Confederate veterans in Washington D. C. has been fixed for June 5 to 7. It will be the first one held outside of the old Confederate states.

A Louisville woman after 36 years married life has sued her husband for divorce on the ground of incompatibility. She says his temper is so bad she doesn't want to settle down to a life of misery with him.

The prohibition law in Tennessee is being made mule high, pig tight and bull strong. Four dry bills have already been made into laws, making it practically impossible to get a drink lawfully in Tennessee.

The Supreme Court of Arizona has decided that T. E. Campbell, Republican, is the de facto Governor of Arizona. The decision unseats Gov. Hunt, Democrat, who claimed re-election. Hunt has surrendered without further contest.

An exchange says the Virginia liquor law permits only married men to buy liquor. If the law can be amended to add the words "on a written order from the married man's wife," there will be mighty little drinking done.

Of 90 men indicted for selling their votes in Cincinnati 24 have pleaded guilty, saying they got $1 for their vote in the presidential election. And yet Ohio, in spite of this sort of corruption, went Democratic by 10,000 votes.

MEN IN MIND IN HOPKINSVILLE

Prominent Factors in The Busy Life of the Pearl City.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH NO. 120.

They Call Him "Smikey" Because of the Smile On His Face.

ALEXANDER C. OVERSHINER.

Here we have somebody whose smiling features will be easily recognized. Indeed it is hardly necessary to put a name under the picture that ornaments this column.

In the year eighteen hundred and blank, in the city of Hopkinsville, a blue-eyed baby was born, a barefooted boy. He was born in the shadow of the Christain church and what could have been a more appropriate name than Alexander Campbell Overshiner. Perhaps his proud parents indulged the fond hope that little Alex, as he was affectionately called, would some day grow up to be a great preacher, but up to a late hour last night Alex was still outside of the ministry.

The story of this infant's marvelous career reads like a dime novel. He grew up on the streets of Hopkinsville just like Owsley Stanley, Hugh Martin and other little gutter-snipes of the same period, who have done almost as well as Alex.

By the time he had reached the age of fifteen years he knew all that he might, could or would learn in the public schools, and always on the lookout for something different, he secured his first job in the office of the late Penny Turner, who invested several hundred dollars of good money in a new fangled scheme to talk over a wire and promptly dropped all he had. He and Alex worked hard to introduce the innovation and just to encourage a worthy young man and an exceedingly bright boy, 25 or 30 people subscribed for the "telephones" as they were called. By going in debt some and doing his own work and letting Alex answer the calls for the fun he got out of listening, Penny ran almost a year before the fool thing busted on him.

One morning Alex found himself out of a job. There was a general protest against his running at large on the streets and his father conceived the idea of improving his naturally brilliant mind by letting it come in contact with the scholarly intellect of the late Maj. J. O. Ferrell, who was at that time making a specialty of taking almost any kind of a boy and taming him down until he would eat out of his mother's hand.

Under its favorable surroundings Alex's mind expanded rapidly and he learned so much that he resigned two or three days before the final examinations were held—this however being a mere coincidence—and was induced to accept a lucrative position under the United States government. As a clerk in the postoffice, he utilized his skill acquired in licking other boys by licking postage stamps by getting behind their backs. Holding a lucrative position it was natural that he should learn the value of lucre and he soon evolved a science for making money based on the philosophical system of making money and not spending it. The first year he made $300. At the end of the year he found that he had saved $312. The extra savings came from his financial system of making money, like liver pills, work while he slept. Alex helped to run the government for 16 years. Administrations came and went, postmasters rose and fell, but still he held on, getting a raise every year, as the Postmaster General faced the constant fear that he might lose his services and be left in the lurch. There came a time when a measly little $100 a month no longer interested the future plutocrat, and one day he told President Taft that he could take his postoffice and run it, the best he could without him. The opportunity of buying a drug store that happened to be on the bargain counter proved more alluring than totting other people's love letters around town and he hung his mail sack behind the postoffice door and went to buying soft drinks at so much a barrel and selling them at a nickel a taste. This proved so profitable that he soon formed a partnership and bought another drug store and here we find him at this good hour getting richer every year. Up to the present period Mr. Overshiner, as we shall hereafter call him, has been too busy to think of love, but now he is beginning to sit up and take notice when he sees a pretty girl go by. He got safely through another leap year, but there is no telling what may happen to him when the mating season arrives and matrimonial business begins to pick up.

And thus we find him well established in business, prosperous and happy—or as happy as an unmarried man can be. As one of the principal owners of the Anderson-Fowler Drug Company, on the corner of Ninth and Main streets, he is a busy man on a busy corner. Aided by his partner in his first venture, R. E. Coates, and a corps of capable salesmen, his house is one of Hopkinsville's greatest commercial successes. Drop in and see for yourself. The (once) young gentleman with a round jovial face, laughing eyes and a dome only partially thatched will at once attract your attention. That's "Smikey." Have one on him.

NEW PATIENTS AT HOSPITAL

Several Operations Since the Last Report—All Doing Well.

Several new patients have been admitted to the Jennie Stuart Hospital. Mrs. Othello Putman, of Morton's Gap, was operated upon Jan. 24th and is doing nicely.

Mrs. L. B. Wagoner, mother of Mrs. S. L. Cowherd, whose home is in Munfordsville, is doing well following a slight operation.

Fenton Cayce, son of Mr. Roy Cayce, of near Beverly, underwent an operation for appendicitis Sunday night and his condition is very satisfactory.

Philip Yonge, operated upon for appendicitis, is up and ready to leave. Bert Eckert, of the county, will also leave in a few days.

Mrs. Luther Johnson, operated upon yesterday is in a satisfactory condition.

John Lacy, of Lafayette, who was operated upon two weeks ago has left the institution and gone to the home of his sister, Mrs. E. N. Roper.

Miss Mary Lou McGill, a daughter of the proprietor of the Hill House, operated upon Jan. 26th, is slowly recuperating from a very critical condition.

TAKING CITY LISTS.

Weather for Week.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Weather predictions for the week, issued by the Weather Bureau: Ohio Valley—Rain, followed by much colder and generally fair Tuesday and Wednesday. Unsettled and warmer with snow Thursday or Friday.

RUSSIANS WIN ON BYSTRITZA

Berlin Admits Withdrawal on The Bukowina-Rumanian Front.

PIERCE LINES FOR 2 MILES

Four More German Airplanes Are Destroyed in France.

On the Bukowina-Rumanian front between the towns of Jacopeni and Kimbolung, the Russians have delivered a vicious attack which resulted in the piercing of the line of the Teutonic allies over a front of nearly two miles. Numerous prisoners and a considerable amount of booty fell into the hands of the Russians. Berlin admits the withdrawal of the Teutonic forces along the Golden Bystritza river in this region, saying that it was necessitated in the face of superior Russian forces.

Between Les Eparges and the Calonne trench, north of Verdun, the French have carried out a successful attack against the Germans, taking elements of trenches from the troops of the German crown prince.

North of the river Somme near Le Transloy, the British in attacks have captured trenches from the Germans and carried out successful raids near Neuville St. Naast and northeast of Festubert.

Considerable aerial activity has again taken place on the Western front, London reporting the destruction of four German aeroplanes and the driving down of another.

In northwest Russia, on the Riga sector, considerable fighting continues. Here both Berlin and Petrograd record the repulse of attacks.

Artillery activity prevails in the Austro-Italian theatre and duels with the big guns and operations by small raiding parties are in progress on the front in Macedonia.

In Mesopotamia the British and Ottoman troops continue their fighting for the possession of Kut-el-Amara. The London war office reports the recapture by the British of trenches which the Turks took from them recently near Kut-el-Amara.

L. & N. MUST PAY BIG SUM

Liabie For Franchise Tax on Ten Million for Four Years.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 29.—The Louisville & Nashville was adjudged liable for franchise taxes on ten million dollars for the years 1907 to 1911 by Judge Stout in the Franklin Circuit Court, to which the railroad appealed from the County Court.

The State tax would amount to a quarter of a million dollars, and the counties through which the road passes could collect local taxes. Interest and penalties will greatly augment the amount if the Court of Appeals affirms the judgment.

Judge Stout has before him the case against the Chesapeake & Ohio for the same years involving State taxes of $225,000. The suits are to assess the franchise as omitted property.

On Which The King of Spain Was a Passenger.

OBSTACLES ON TRACK

Discovered In Time and No Harm Was Done To Occupants.

Madrid, Jan. 29.—An attempt was made Sunday to wreck a train on which King Alfonso was a passenger. The royal train was preceded by a freight train, the engineer of which saw an obstacle on the track and removed it. Neither the royal train nor the freight suffered any damage.

The spot chosen for the derailment of the royal train, near Granada, Andalusia, was a particularly favorable one, as the road here begins to run downgrade. The police have arrested two men, on one of whom was found code letters from Barcelona.

TUESDAY, JAN. 30

Speaking of offices, reminds us that our friend, Judge Bill Orr, wants to promote himself from city judge to county judge in Hopkins county.
Three other gentlemen want the same office and the following arrangement of the names of the several candidates, if the initial letter of each be taken, will convey a hint, with apologies to Noah Webster, as to how nominations are sometimes won in hot primaries:

Brown
Orr
Young
Teague.

Thieves stole a $150 horse from the widow Goose, who lives in Jefferson county, after making three raids on her henroost. The poet says:

"There swims no goose so gray

But some day soon or late

An honest gander comes that way

And claims her for his mate."

The moral of this story and the lesson of the poem are that every goose needs a gander to keep off intruders.

The Louisville Times is on the wrong track in reasoning that the prohibitionists will go after "tobacco next." The water wagon voters are the raisers of tobacco in the country and the cigar smokers in the towns.
The most ardent prohibitionist is the one who chews tobacco while he argues and spits his opinions against a red hot stove in the country store.

The country papers are now filling up with announcements of candidates who are willing to serve the dear people. In some instances they destroy their own chances by letting the papers print their pictures alongside of the picture of a better looking opponent.

Dr. R. L. Bone, of Madisonville, has gone to Baltimore for two months.
The doctor will doubtless experience the sensation of having things both "broken" and "reduced," if he takes a roll of bank bills with him.

Four Kentucky preachers are candidates for the legislature. Is it possible we are to have a rumpus in the next House four times as big as we had in the last one?

Senator Cummins wants the Senate to take a week to tell what the Senators don't know about President Wilson's peace proposal, that he read in ten minutes.

William Shelby, a negro, at Vine Grove, is in trouble on a charge of having two wives. The law presumes that one is enough, as high as the costs of living are.

Ljubimir Mihailovitch, the first minister from Serbia to the United States, on Friday presented his credentials to President Wilson.

Hardin county has 41 taxpayers who list more than $10,000, only one a woman. Hardin county's rich widows must have all married again.

There are sixteen Democratic candidates for jailer in Hopkins county, all braving the issue upon which Bryan lost in 1896—a ratio of 16 to 1.

Geo. M. Green, former owner of the Uniontown Telegram, has gone to Crowley, La., to be advertising manager of the Daily Signal.

The Millers, Browns and Williams families all outnumber the Smiths and Joneses in Hardin county.

THE HUSBAND HUNTER

By ERNEST A. YOUNG.

"Heart smashing is bound to end in husband hunting," proclaimed Charles Darton, the cynic.

"What do you know about it? You never had a heart to smash," taunted Billy Drew.

Bert Temple, the host and presiding genius at many a smoke-nik in the cozy bachelor quarters, picked up his ears, for his friends were getting on a subject which had acquired a new interest for him.

He had lately discovered that he had a heart, and he was inclined to feel a bit hendy over it.

"You are wrong, Billy," Charles asserted, "for it was a woman's peridy that bleached my hair years ago."

"Story!—old brand of romance," announced Drew with a wave of his fat hands.

"I fail to see any romance about the process of getting stung at a time of life when a decent young chap of a mushy temperament thinks he is in love for the only possible time, and the girl plays up the delusion until she finds what a boob he is and then lets him drop.

"That, in substance," continued the cynic, "was what happened. I was the boob and Miss Doris Ward was the perfidious maiden, and it happened eight years ago, when I was twenty-
two. Chortle over it if you find it humorous, because I see the joke now as plainly as you do. I also see how Miss Doris Ward comes to Dunbury for a winter of sport—husband hunting."

They laughed at the story, of course —all except their host. He had been poking the fire and he dropped the poker as if it had burned his fingers.

The party broke up, and no note was taken of anything unusual in Temple's manner.

"Charles, the cynic, jilted eight years ago by Doris Ward!" mumbled the host as the door shut out the last of his guests.

It was like a clip from a blackjack to the senses of Bert Temple. Twenty-minutes ago the memory of Doris Ward's voice was thrilling through his soul, as he had listened to that voice the evening before. Sure enough, at the ripe age of thirty-six he had fallen heels over head at first sight. Although they had been hardly two hours in each other's society he had as good as told her that she was "the wonderful woman," and that he was prepared to close up a marriage contract for the earliest date that could be fixed upon compatible with the conventions.

Now Temple felt sick, dizzy, bewildered. "I was the boob and Miss Doris Ward was the perfidious maiden," were the words that bored into Temple's consciousness. In other words, at the callow age of twenty-two Charles Darton had been jilted by Miss Ward, and now he, Bertram Temple, at thirty-six, had betrayed the same brand of callowness as that youngster, whom Temple had never particularly admired.

Now, according to Charles, the cynic, this young woman, whose unique charm had appealed to Temple's un-tutored heart, was a husband hunter.
That meant that she was done with the royal sport of killing for amusement, and had taken up the practical vocation of bagging the game. And it seemed that she had marked him—Bert Temple, age thirty-six—as a likely mark.

There was little time in which to make up his mind what to do. In an hour he was to call at the lun to take Miss Ward motoring.

There wasn't time to think out a really good plan for showing Doris Ward that he was aware of her little scheme of marrying the first man in Dunbury whom she chose to smile upon. So he got out his car and asked Mollie Clews to go with him.

Temple in his racer, with the chattering little mangle snuggled on the seat beside him, slackened the pace in front of the lun. He could see Miss Ward at the foot of the walk, waiting for him.

He meant to slow up just enough so she would be sure to see how pretty and happy Mollie looked, and then, like a cat, he would speed on and leave the husband hunter to guess what had happened.

Chug!

The racer stopped short. The engine went dead.

At that juncture Charles Darton came up with his car, and in a twinkling he had Mollie beside him.

"You didn't speak to your—er—Charles Darton," stammered Temple as Doris took Mollie's place in the stalled motor.

"Was that Charles Darton?" she exclaimed. "Really, I had the impression he was tall and blond."

"He told us," Bert persisted, "that you jilted him eight years ago. And now you would pretend—"

"It was my cousin Doris who did the jilting. She told me all about it.
She called him No. 23. If I remember rightly, she is lots older than I am and different about—about nothing."

They were still sitting beside each other in the stalled racer when they were aroused to the passage of time by the purr of Darton's motor returning with Mollie after an hour's spin.
In confusion Doris Ward tried to get out and flee into the house. But Temple, recklessly hilarious and brazen, would not let her go.

"He said you were a husband hunter," he told her.

"I'm not one—any more!" she protested.

Kin Folks
And Friends!

I have ten fingers and ten toes.
I can count that much, but I just can't count all my good friends down South here—they are far too many.

And I'm mighty proud of them.
The men who make me, say you can tell real quality by the company one keeps.

Blood will tell. A good name and good breeding count most of all.

And that same, I reckon, applies to cigarettes, too. More and more gentlemen of the South are smoking me, SOVEREIGN, every day, because they know I come from good old Virginia and Carolina stock—the finest, grandest stock in all the world.

Quality is the thing, friend—you can't deny it. And I stand for Quality.

You Folks of the South KNOW good blood!
You Folks of the South KNOW good tobacco!

That's why I am so loved among you all down here. So I am proud to say—

I am guaranteed by The American Tobacco Co.—Buy me.
If you don't like me return me to your dealer and get your money back. I have said it. A Southern gentleman is known the world over for keeping his word, and I have given you mine.

Making Money Out of Farm Loans.

The January Farm and Fireside says editorially:

"The passage of the Federal Farm Loan Law, and the work now in progress preparatory to putting this law into operation, has naturally led some artful tricksters to try to put across various schemes for the purpose of making some easy money for themselves.

"One such loan scheme is being worked in several Rocky Mountain States where the farming population is sparse and neighbors far apart.
These unlawful loan promoters claim to be working as agents to help introduce the new Farm Loan Law. They seek out farmers, tell plausible stories, and offer to furnish a loan of $2,500
if the farmer will make an advance payment of $50, but the contract must be completed or rejected without any delay. Some of these sharpers promised to have the funds ready for the applicants by January 1, 1917. The secret service of the Treasury Department has already arrested several of these fake loan promoters and have their eyes on others.

"The secretary of the Federal Farm Loan Board wants this caution broadcasted to farmers: 'Under no consideration should farmers pay out any money or give any notes to agents or strangers purporting to be working in the interest of the new Farm Loan Law.'

"Fortunately, our Farm Loan Law requires the services of no unknown agents or interlopers to get the loaning machinery into operation. Neighbors or residents of any community can form a local group through which the business of the loan-making can be carried on. When in doubt, write the Federal Farm Loan Bureau, Washington, D. C. Farm and Fireside also stands ready at all times to help."

Have You Seen the Fifth Wheel?

This Is a Strong New Weber Wagon Feature

YOU can find the new fifth wheel, the biggest wagon improvement, only on International wagons. We can demonstrate how the Weber fifth wheel makes the best wagon still better.

The famous fifth wheel on the Weber, made of strong, malleable iron, with large wearing surface, does these things: It distributes the strain on the front bolster and sandboard; overcomes pitching of bolster, so preventing bending or breaking of the king bolt; does away with pulling up of front bolster and bending of circle iron.

The top plates of the fifth wheel are widest, so the lower plates are protected and no dirt gets in between. The more you study the merits of this feature, the more you will appreciate its importance.

Intuition must be what makes the neighbor women know, after glancing at the beautiful and fashionable new neighbor as she passes, that her helle-trope silk stockings undoubtedly are only seconds with defects in the garter-tops which, however slight, of course make a vast difference in the price.—Columbus (Ohio) Journal.

SUNDAY HELD A RECORD REVIVAL

Billy Sunday Brings Big Boston Meeting To a Close With Much Good.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 25.—The record religious revival in the history of evangelism was closed last week by Billy Sunday, the reformed baseball player. During the ten weeks at Boston Sunday made the revival history as follows:

He preached to 1,327,250 persons. It is estimated that 60,510 hit the trail.

A check for $50,828.54 of "free-will offerings" for Sunday was handed him before he left. This brings the total received by Sunday since he has been conducting revivals up to about $600,000.

Collections for expenses at Boston totaled $90,436.75, and were paid for out of collections.

Only one other city ever gave him more as a free-will offering. Philadelphia dished out $51,136.85.

Before leaving, an engraved memorial valued at $1,000, signed by 80,000 people, was presented to him.

It's no wonder Billy summed up by his appreciation of Boston something like this:

"Boston's batting average for God is .900. She's not behind in history or culture or hospitality, baseball or religion. She trails nobody in anything. God be with you, old scouts."

Never to Return.

Ten years ago a Kansas farmer put his initials on a ten dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he got the dollar bill back. Four times in six years he got it back for produce and three times he heard of it being in the pockets of his neighbors. The last time he got it back he sent it to a mail order house. He has never seen that dollar bill since and never will. That dollar bill will never pay any more road or school taxes for him—it will never help to build or brighten any of the homes in his community. He sent it entirely out of its usefulness* to himself for his neighbors.—Pembroke Journal.

This year's tobacco crop in this county will amount to about 4,000,000 pounds. It will bring on the loose leaf markets about 16 1/2 cents per lb., or $640,000. oust President OF COSTA RICA

Army, Supported by People of the Capital, Deposes Gonzales.

San Jose, Costa Rica, Jan. 29.—The president of Costa Rica, Alfredo Gonzales, was deposed from office by the military forces of the capital, supported by a great number of citizens, on Saturday. The administrative power was conferred on the minister of war, Federico Timoco, as provisional chief executive. The movement was enthusiastically carried out and perfect order prevails.

President Gonzales left his home and took refuge in the American legation. Already the Timoco government has taken steps to call a convention, the delegates will be elected by the people, which will meet on April 1 for the election of a president.

The cause of Gonzales' deposition is to be found according to the leaders of the movement, in the re-election aims of the president, who, it is alleged, contrary to the constitution, was endeavoring to retain his official position for another term. A new system of taxes advocated by Gonzales was threatened and to this Costa Ricans generally were strongly opposed.

Alfredo Gonzales was chosen president of Costa Rica by congress in May, 1914.

REAL MEN

Announce Their Willingness to Offer for the County Commission in Jefferson.

One of the most important, and in many ways the most interesting, political announcement in years came Saturday, in the fact that Judge Robert W. Bingham, Mr. Atilla Cox, Jr., and Mr. Charles Scholtz, Jr., have agreed to become candidates for the new County Commission, and in a public card declare their intention of standing together as candidates in the Democratic primary.

The decision of these three gentlemen comes, so it is learned, after visits to them by dozens of the most prominent citizens of Louisville, who urged them to accept this public duty because of the urgent public need for a radical change in the administration of the affairs of the county.

It is also stated that, after the gentlemen named agreed to make the race, that Mayor Buschmeyer and the entire Democratic party organization and scores of Democratic ward and precinct leaders agreed enthusiastically to support all three for these nominations.—Post.

Saturday's Drop.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Wheat prices collapsed Saturday under heavy selling due to rumor that peace was in sight. After an extreme break of 7 1/2 cents the market reacted but closed weak, 1 1/2 to 6c net lower with may at $1.75 1/2 to $1.75 3/4 and July at $1.47 1/2 to $1.47 3/4. Corn finished 1/2 to 1 1/4 @ 1 1/2 down, and oats off 1/2 to 1 1/4. Provisions scored gains of 5c to 12 1/2c.

Bond Remitted.

Quick Cold Relief

Is usually found through the prompt administration of a mildly laxative, dispersive tonic—one that will scatter the inflammation, remove the waste, and help Nature to build up resistance.

Peruna is That Tonic.

Its action is prompt, usually very effective, and its use is without harmful effects. Every household should keep it at hand for this purpose, and every catarrhal sufferer should regularly use this reliable remedy.

The tablet form will be found very convenient. A tablet or two at the very beginning of a cold will frequently prevent its development, and these tablets may be taken regularly with beneficial results.

The toastmaster was District Agent, M. O. Hughes. More than 50 agents and other officials attended.

Wives As Strike-breakers.

New York, Jan. 28.—There was a meeting of wives here when it was announced that the unskilled laborers in the Havemeyer plant in Williamsburg were going to strike. The unanimous decision of the housewives was that there wasn't going to be any strike and that the intending strikers would be forcibly delivered if necessary at the threshold of their daily toil. Most of the 3,000 workers succumbed to argument at the domestic hearth. More than 100 were actually dragged to the doors of the refinery by their wives, amid jeers and cheers from a small multitude of women.

MADE LOB- STER FAMOUS

Broker Wenburg Reversed
The First Syllable of His Name.

(Richmond Times-Dispatch.)

If you are a gourmet, you like lobster. The man who made lobster a la Newburg famous refused to have his name go with it. He gave Delmonico the recipe and Del. gave the delicacy the name it bears today, while that of the benefactor is never heard outside of the little circle in which he lived.

Well, the creator of the dish was Benjamin Wenburg, a New York broker. He used to take his luncheons at Delmonico's downtown place, not many blocks from the Battery. When he told Del. how to make lobster a la Newburg—it had no name then—Del. put it on his bill and called it lobster a la Wenburg.

Wenburg got huffy about it and told Delmonico if he didn't remove his name he would feed elsewhere. The big caterer reversed the first syllable and the title has been what you have been accustomed to see ever since.

Watch Their Noses.

The measles season is on. Watch your children's eyes and noses. If they have fever keep them at home and send for a doctor. Fever, watery eyes, and a running nose always precede the measles. This is known to medical science as the pre-eruptive state. One of the chief troubles that the health authorities are up against in checking a spread of the disease is that in many cases the patients have no physicians. This occurs more often among the negroes.

ADRIFT

By ELIZABETH SHIELDS.

Her hair was golden and her large, inquiring eyes were brown. They flashed with great hopes and the wonderful dreams of youth. She arrived in New York with the conviction that an amazing adventure was waiting for her each time she turned a corner. She lived alone for one week in the goal city of the United States and, of course, it happened. On the first day of her second week's stay in the old-fashioned brown-stone boarding house, she descended the dark, musty-smelling halls, with the dim gas jets burning to the dining room for luncheon.

Claire was not only dewy, fresh and rosy, she had cultivated an air of dash and she was wistful, but of this latter quality she was utterly unconscious. When she entered the dining room she found a stranger at her table. New York is overfilled with pretty girls, but Gilbert Brown sat up when he looked at Claire.

Claire looked him over completely without, apparently, taking her eyes from the cream pitcher in front of her. He was too big, she decided. She shrunk from men so broad and with such square chins. There was something so delicate about her, she seemed a little beyond Gilbert Brown, but he started to talk anyway.

Luncheon finished, they went up the stairs to a still gloomier room, known as the library. After another half-hour's acquaintance he felt free to inquire, "Haven't you anyone to look after you?"

She answered with a lifting laugh. "No one's ever taken care of me. I only have Aunt Annie, who was glad I came to New York."

"Go back home, child," he warned her; "you won't stand being banged about here."

She gave the man a long, speculative glance. "I haven't any home to go to," she laughed lightly, dismissing the subject forever. A thought flashed into her golden head that there was a chance for adventure. She wanted to dance and dine in the restaurants, and her week in New York proved that she probably never would, unless she went alone. She astonished the man by telling him this. All her girlish desires for experience beamed trustfully from her brown eyes as she talked.

"I'll take you to a show," he offered eagerly. "First, we'll have dinner with a cabaret, then a show after," he urged. Still Claire hesitated. The opportunity so suddenly presented took her breath away. His eyes were burning into hers in an uncomfortable way. The temptation to seek adventure was too strong to deny.

Upstairs in the latest hall bedroom ever built into a boarding house Claire dressed for the evening, aglow with the wonder of the adventure on which she was starting.

When she met Brown her eager brown eyes looked directly into his. Her tight grasp on his arm gave him the feeling of being a protector in a deeper sense than ever before. She carried her head high, animated with the joy of living. She intoxicated Brown.

The cheap dazzle of Broadway worried him, but Claire laughed up at him in childish excitement.

"Do you like this sort of thing?" he questioned wonderingly. "I can't thank you enough for taking me," she chirped; "it's all more beautiful than I ever dreamed, much more wonderful!"

She started for home willingly when he suggested it.

"You must not come again," he cautioned her; "other men will ask you."

"But I want to come again," she protested. Secretly Brown made up his mind that in the morning he would look up the first train to her home town and see that she took it. If he had to take her to the station himself. Aloud he said, "You're the nicest little girl I ever saw!"

Claire placed her soft palm over his mouth.

"You've told me every minute that I'm pretty."

He caught her hand and held it. He knew he shouldn't do it, but she looked at him with bright, happy eyes and smiled, Brown's heart always rebelled his head, and at the touch of her soft little arm against his, he drew her close to him. He covered her face with kisses.

"I want you with me always, sweet one," he whispered in a trembling voice, "I don't want to let you go." She put her arms around him and kissed him. Releasing her he drew his breath in sharply. "I shouldn't have talked to you at all. You're too good for me like me. Tomorrow—" he continued.

Smiling sweetly into his face Claire interrupted. "Tomorrow we'll go adventuring again." Brown clenched her hands in his strong grip.

"I don't want to let you go out of my life, but—" "I shan't. We'll be perfectly happy together," Claire laughed and cuddled closer to him. Then she whispered, "This is my first proposal!"

It was several minutes before Gilbert Brown could speak. In his heart, which was big, he was glad for the innocence of her.

"Little treasure," he murmured, "I'll be a good husband to you." (Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Then the Ice Formed.

Her—No doubt you think I am older than I really am.

Him—Not at all. I'm sure you are not as old as you look.

"PICK OUT THE WORST BOY"

And Hold Him Responsible for Rest of the Kids in Neighborhood.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Fifty-one policeman assigned to the Chicago Juvenile Court received their instructions today from Judge Victor P. Arnold to "pick out the worst boy in each neighborhood and hold him responsible for the rest of the kids."

"The worst boy is usually the leader," Judge Arnold said. "The other boys admire his courage and will follow him, so we must get him to turn his energies to upholding the law."

Read Own Selections.

Readings by Louisville authors of their own writings will form a prominent part of the programme of the Kentucky Educational Association's annual convention in Louisville, on the opening day, Wednesday, April 25. Among those who will be heard are Mrs. Annie Fellows Johnston, Mrs. Geo. Madden Martin, Mrs. Fannie McCauley and Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice.

Scrap With Greasers.

Mexicans, who were attacked by cowboys while attempting to round up cattle on the American side of the border, retreated to the hills Saturday after a thirty-six hour battle with Utah cavalry. No American casualties were reported, and a bloody blanket left behind was the only indication that the Mexicans suffered.

Soldier Boy Dismissed.

Second Lieut. James H. Shadoan, of the Second Infantry, Kentucky National Guard, a resident of Somerset has been found guilty by court-martial of converting post funds. He will be dismissed from the service and confined at hard labor for six months.

Steamer Sunk.

The British auxiliary cruiser Lauretic, formerly in the White Star Line's Canadian service, has been sunk off the Irish Coast by either a mine or a torpedo. Twelve officers and 109 men on board the vessel were saved.

In Fine Fettle

Every Louisville National Guardsman returned from the Texas border in better shape physically than he was when he left. As many of the boys from Hopkinsville and Frankfort, who are also camped at the armory, as have been examined, also show decided improvement.—Courier-Journal.

After 40 Years.

Sister Ephraima, founder of St. Joseph's Hospital at Lexington, Ky., has retired after having been in charge of that institution for forty years. She returns to Nazareth Academy.

Costly Rejections.

Guardsmen physically unfit, who had to be rejected, cost the Government $2,000,000, according to an estimate made by Mayor Mitchell's Committee on National Defense in New York.

Villa's agent in New York says Villa is in virtual control of all Northern Mexico and will take actual control as soon as Pershing's troops are withdrawn. He also boasts that 20 generals commanding 15,000 Carranza troops are ready to join Villa when he says the word, and that "a spring drive" will begin.

It looks like Kentucky is not to get a square deal in the distribution of the federal road fund. Every adjoining state is to get more for 1918 than Kentucky, including some that are smaller and less populous. The apportionments are:

Kentucky	$194,943.82
Virginia	199,321.42
Tennessee	228,306.90
North Carolina	228,763.84
Indiana	271,495.25
Ohio	373,810.84
Illinois	441,852.16

And even the small mountain state of West Virginia is to get $103,540.92.

Improvement in Gas Lighting.

Coal gas illumination was evolved between 1792 and 1802, but it was not until about 1884 that it was brought to a high state of efficiency by the Welsbach mantle, and further developed by the inverted burner and the use of pressure gas.

TIME TO WAKE UP

REPUBLICANS TRY TO CONTROL
FUTURE FROM PAST.

When the War is Over We Shall Face
Totally New Situation in Oversea Trade—Will Not Need High Tariff Wall.

The Republican element keeps harping on the protective tariff issue. It takes its ultimate stand on the declaration that we shall witness at the close of the war a tremendous industrial productivity on the part of the nations now at strife and that the only hope for our own possession of our home market will be the erection of the highest of high tariff walls about it. It is the purpose of this article to demonstrate that in so holding the G. O. P. turns to the broken bottles of the past to hold the new wine of the commercial future of America.

When the war is over we shall face a totally new situation in foreign trade. Up till August, 1914, we were debtors internationally. Every year we exported far more than we imported, the excess going to pay interest and dividends to foreign creditors and foreign holders of our stocks. This normal export balance is a sign of a debtor nation. It is characteristic of the trade of Russia, Japan, Peru, Argentina, Chile, the United States. On the other hand, the normal trade of Great Britain, Germany, France, Austria-Hungary and Italy has for years shown a large import balance. These nations owned so many overseas enterprises and had so much money lent beyond their own domains that, taking their pay in the products of the debtor countries, as they needs must, they received more goods than they sent out.

Now for the situation after the war. During the past two years the United States, as nearly as we can tell, has changed from a debtor to a creditor nation. It is not money lent to new and undeveloped countries like Brazil and Argentina that has wrought this change; it is money lent to the great manufacturing nations of Europe.

How will they pay our dividends and interest?

Not in gold. We have, during the past two years, received some $450,000,000 gold on balances, and to take more would mean to weaken the foundations of international credit so far as to invite a general European financial smash which would destroy the ability of our European debtors to pay their debts. We cannot, generally speaking, take raw materials from our European debtors for the very sufficient reason that they haven't got them; we are ourselves sellers of raw materials to Europe. There is but one thing left; we must take Europe's manufactured goods in amounts altogether new to our former experience, simply because Europe owes us, must pay and has nothing else to pay with. This is not going to happen by reason of anybody's desire or choice, nor can it be stayed off by any kind of legislation, political change or trade policy. When Smith owes Jones, Jones must take what Smith has to pay with, or go unpaid.

McAdoo on Dollar Diplomacy.

No American of the present hour is more typical of the best things in his generation than Secretary McAdoo. Take this utterance from the secretary:

"We have substituted dollar exchange for dollar diplomacy, which is the true way to secure and hold our share of the world's commerce. Dollar exchange represents the conquest of foreign markets through friendship and reciprocally advantageous trade relations. Dollar diplomacy represents the attempt to secure foreign concessions and trade by force—by the use of the army and navy of the United States."

Secretary McAdoo believes that the possession of great wealth means increased opportunity for service. And he has placed the impress of his constructive statesmanship upon the finances of his country in the most critical hour in the history of world finance.

Thought Everyone Knew That.

Readers of some of the newspapers so anxious to prove things against President Wilson will soon be convinced, no doubt, that he started the war in Europe.

Let 'Em Live.

There will be no general objection to the continued existence of the Republican party if it will cease to contend for the offices.

Get a G. O. P. Leader.

It will be time for the Republicans in congress to talk about changing their leader when they succeed in getting one.

Those Progressive Members.

The few Progressive members of the next house of representatives at Washington must be highly complimented by the distinguished attention that they are receiving from Oyster Bay. Three months ago Mr. Roosevelt was devoting his days and nights to the proposition that the highest duty of a Progressive was to vote the straight stand-pat ticket. Not one of these men would be in a position to accept instructions from the colonel if his admonitions had been heeded at the polls.

WAITING FOR THE CALL

Gov. Stanley Said to Be Almost Persuaded To Risk It.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 29.—Although there has been a big decrease in the amount of talk heard in connection with the efforts made to induce Governor Stanley to call an extra session of the legislature to consider the tax legislation proposed by the state tax commission, interest just now is keenest in what the governor actually will do in the matter. This interest, which has resolved itself into a sort of "watchful waiting" on the part of the politicians, the public generally, and the newspapers of the state, is due to the fact that an apparently well-founded rumor has crept out from Frankfort that the governor will assemble the state legislative body some time after the first of the coming month.

A YEAR IN HEAVEN

One year among the angels, beloved, thou hast been;
One year has heaven's white portals shut out the sound of sin;
And yet no voice, no whisper, comes floating down from thee
To tell us what glad wonder a year in heaven can be.

Our hearts before it listen—the beautiful closed gate;
The silence yearns around us—we listen and we wait;
It is thy heavenly birthday—on earth thy lilies bloom;
In thine immortal garments can't find for thee no room.

So when the sky seems blue and when the blossoms wear
Some tender mystic shading, we never knew was there,
We'll say we see things earthly, by light of sainted eyes,
He bends, where we are gazing to-day, from Paradise.

(Written by Rev. J. N. Jessup in memory of the late Geo. H. Taylor, who died Dec. 4, 1915.)

Kentucky Girl In Demand.

A Williamsport, Pa., paper tells of an exciting race between Harry I. McCollum and John Palmour to wed Miss Sadie Shelton, daughter of the late John B. Shelton, who was pastor of the Adairville, Ky., Baptist church in 1910. McCollum went to Chester, S. C., in his automobile and got there 10 minutes ahead of Palmour who was en route from Gainesville, Ga., on a train and a justice hastily married them.

Miss Shelton was a junior in Breun college in Gainesville, where she became engaged to Palmour. The wedding date was set and all arrangements had been made when the exciting race occurred and they were upset. Young Palmour arrived almost in time to see the pair leave the Shelton home on their honeymoon. Like a true sport he sent congratulations to McCollum. McCollum is an amateur sportsman, ex-racing driver and son of R. L. McCollum, the brick king.

Gives a Free Show.

A ventriloquist among the convicts of the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., who apparently has at his command all the tricks of the profession, is causing the guards to spend much time trying to evolve a plan for his detection and silence. The large cell rooms are acoustically perfect for the exercise of the convict's art, and nightly the guards and inmates are aroused by wails of distress, laughter, dog barks and dialogues between man and woman, which eventually end with a fight.

So far the practical joker is enjoying his art undisturbed, but unless the guards obtain results within a few days, they declared they will offer a reward among the convicts for the disturber of their peace.

Pay Car Makes Last Trip.

The pay car, which has been used by the L. & N. railroad for years, has made its last trip. Employees of the railroad company will hereafter receive checks. Heretofore they have been receiving pay from the pay car once a month and checks for the remaining two weeks.—Providence Enterprise.

Late reports say the earthquake on the island of Balr, killed 600. It is a Dutch possession in the East Indies.

Comfort, ease and elegance is his reward. He didn't get it in one day, or a week, or a year. He didn't "strike it rich." He didn't have a rich relative die and leave it to him. The amounts were small at first, but he KEPT AT IT; then the amounts grew larger, opportunities came and the little sum he started with became a great big FORTUNE.

THE KENTUCKIAN FOR 1917

The Kentuckian on Jan. 1, 1917, rounds out its 38th year. Under normal conditions the year 1916 would have been a year of unusual prosperity, but as the public is aware the exorbitant and unprecedented price charged for News Print Paper cut a deep hole in the profits of all newspapers and many unable to stand losses were put out of business. The Kentuckian enters the new year with print paper that cost $54 ton at this time last year now costing about $140 for the same amount of paper not as good. How long these conditions will continue cannot be foretold.

Many newspapers have advanced rates but in order that the circulation may not be lessened by a higher price the Kentuckian will still be sent for $2.00 a year, the old price. It will be necessary though to adhere rigidly to the cash system, since more than $1.00 must be paid in advance for the paper upon which we print 156 papers and the cost of printing leaves but little profit out of the second dollar. We are asking our old subscribers to stand by us in this crisis by renewing promptly. Advertisers will also be asked to pay a slightly higher rate for space, which is all a newspaper has to sell outside of its subscriptions. We trust the advertising public will see the reasonableness of this step.

All papers not paid for will be Stopped. Don't Let Yours Stop.

The Price Will be the same as heretofore,
